This brings the cost of fumigating with pyrethrum to 60 cents or more for each thousand cubic feet of space, with camphor-phenol, about 40 cents, and with sulphur, about 10 cents. If these materials are purchased in quantities, the cost can undoubtedly be reduced considerably. In preparing a room for fumigation, it must be remembered that all openings must be made as tight as possible, even to the extent of stuffing cracks about doors and windows with rags or paper. All closets and other places where mosquitoes may hide should be left open during the process. Screening If we wish to avoid the necessity of such fumigation which, to say the least, is tiresome, we should see that the windows and doors are carefully screened, and if we wish to enjoy the evening air. the porch should also be so enclosed. The netting...
