Excerpt: .during the year have been few, and those were made exclusively for account of the Ministry of Food. The British Food Controller decided early in the season to send representatives out to Greece in order to make purchases for the requirements of the United Kingdom with the good intention, no doubt, of not depriving the British public of their Christmas plum pudding. When this decision was taken early in August last year, the scarcity of tonnage was less acute than was proved to be the case during the last quarter of the year, and early in December definite instructions were given by the Food Minister to his representatives to buy about 6,000 tons at 49 shillings f. o. b. (average price) of Vostizza, Gulf, Patras and Amalias currants for December shipment. This purchase was duly effected, and the shipment of this small quantity, although...
